Organ Music in Church.

We presume that no one will dispute that the primary purpose which the organ is intended to fulfill in church is the pleasing and benefiting of the congregation. No minister would care very much whether he had an organ or not, unless he were convinced that it would materially assist his religious work. No board of trustees would seek to raise money and no congregation would reserve to raise money and no congregation would reserve to the Stomach. Liver and Bowels, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medicale Discovery is an unsqualed Remedy. Contains as slouded that it would materially assist his religious work. No board of trustees would seek to raise money and no congregation would reserve the system and cures pimpies. It eleanses the system and cure pimpies, and no congregation would reserve the system and cures pimpies. It eleanses the system and cures pimpies, and no congregation would reserve the system and cures pimpies. It eleanses the system and cures pimpies, and no congregation would reserve the system and cures pimpies. and no congregation would respond works Dispensany Medical Associato the appeal for money, for the purchase of an organ, unless there worship of God would be exalted

At first sight it would seem as Catarrh Bemedy. though it were needless to formulate such evident traths, but it is singularby apparent, that musicians become FOR BOYS AND GIRLS their art for its own sake, that they Grammar, Primary & Kindergarten are apt to forget the practical world around them: to forget that in the church they are merely a means to an end, and fail frequently to make that diligent inquiry concerning the effectiveness of their work, which is necessary to make it more effective. The musician tends to become a dreamer and dwell in cloud-land—in fact, were it not for this tendency, he would not be a musician at all. But it is on this excessory to make at all. But it is on this excessory to the forget that in the properties of the propert would not be a musician at all. But it is on this account all the more necessary that he should take some pains to keep in touch with the more restary that he should take some pains to keep in touch with the more restary that he should take some pains to keep in touch with the more send for circular or call upon prosaic dwellers upon earth. With these thoughts in mind and with no these thoughts in mind and with no little astonishment at our own temerity, we venture a suggestion or two to the church organist and the authorities who are supposed to authorities who are supposed to solvise with him, on behalf of the Boys, Middle AGED MEN AND YOU'SO LADIES. The organ has often been aptly likened to an orchestra, and the Coleman College, 838 Bread St. organist to the conductor. Indeed anyone capable of reading can in a few moments learn how to evoke at will, from the grand organ, the notes produced by instruments of street, and the second of street, and the country. Course of study combines theory with practice by a system of flushness transactions have on real values. No vacations, large Low. produced by instruments of strings or wood or brass; and the organist, though he has before him no or chestra, can at will reproduce most of the flots. The music of victims, of finites and horns and trumpets responds to his call. Now what would be thought of a Thomas, a Seidl or a Damrosch who, with sixty performers before and around him, should be conent with employing nine tenths of the time only stringed or wood instrument soloists with perhaps a running secompaniment of strings and wood, and the occasional interjection of a little brass ! And yet to the most of hose in the pews, that is the exact parallel of what many of our organists do with the organ. We weary of the ever! Instructionthorough lasting flute and violin solo effects, delicate and pretty though they be, and long for the mighty effects of the full organ or orchestra. How long is it N. s. office help furnished gratts.

upon their lips after listening to our church organ music the adjectives HENRY SCHELAND, "grand," "noble," "majestic," "inspiring," "grandly solemn," "soul mov. Scavenger & Teamster, ing, or any others expressing profound emotion? Have not "very pretty" and "sweet" and "delicate" expressed the greatest height and lowest depth? Now dear friends, who preside over Seeing is Believing. the organ, do not take offense, but satisfy our hunger for some music readered by the full orchestra which is at your command. A never endding succession of pretty musical rev. eries neither pleases nor benefits the comgregation—or at least that part of it which needs prost to be seemed. of it which needs most to be considered, from a religious standpoint If not enfer from catarrh why don't you ake Hood's Sarsaparilla, the common sense remedy? It has oured many people.
